week.

One of the certainties of our lives like Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter and the first Northerners, and other things over which we have no control are the annual stock shows and the Southwestern Circuit is in full flower next week at Fort Worth as the stock show arrives.
The Southwestern stock show circuit offers the natives from kids of carrying age to kids in their 70's or 80's or 90's a renewal of fun, games, entertainment, education and a time to renew friendships that go back to youngest childhood. Hardly a person can be found who does not remember their first stock show experience and we never heard of one who cannot recall some or several highlights from visits to the shows.

Western Heritage Saluted, Record Rodeo Purse, Strong Livestock Exhibits, Fun Combined With Business, Stock Sales

Each year in late January and early February Fort Worth relives its Western Heritage to the hilt by hosting the annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show. This year the show runs Jan. 28 through Feb. 8, with all events scheduled at the Will Rogers Memorial Complex.

The 91st edition of the stock show is expected to draw over 730,000 persons from across the United States and many foreign countries during its 12-day run. An outstanding family-oriented entertainment program has been planned.
Attending the show is considered by many as a personal annual outing.
There's a group from West, headed by Roy Durie, that comes each year. For Durie, this will be his 68th consecutive year to attend the Stock Show and Rodeo with his group of seven friends.
Their day this year will be the last Sunday.

Two people from out of state have been ordering rodeo tickets for over 35 years. J. A. Griffin from Mississippi and Walter Mayfield from Nebraska travel here each year for the livestock show and attend almost all the rodeo performances. Each is active in livestock breeding programs in their respective areas.

These are representative of a large number of die-in-the-wool Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo fans from across the country who attend the annual extravaganza despite economics and the so-called "Stock Show weather."

According to tradition, the city will become a beehive of cowboys, cowgirls and lovers of western pageantry during the show's run. Western year merchants look upon the annual show as a reason for Christmas in January.

Based upon a study commissioned during the 1986 Stock Show, the 12-day program each year generates about $48 million in new money to the area's economy. Using a conservative multiple of the money changing hands at least three times, the economic picture is enhanced by over $130 million.
This year's livestock show and accompanying 23 performances of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo will pay out more than $450,000 in prizes and prize money.

The beginning activity for the two weeks of festivities will be the annual Stock Show All-Western Parade through downtown Fort Worth. The parade, featuring several hundred participants who represent riding clubs, marching bands and merchants who sponsor horse-drawn vehicles, will step off from the Tarrant County Court House at 11 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 24.
Route of the parade will be south on Houston Street to 8th Street, east to Main Street, then north to the court house. Last year, more than 130,000 persons lined the streets to watch the two-hour parade.

More than 15,000 head of top quality livestock will be exhibited and judged during the Stock Show. Classes are scheduled for beef cattle, dairy cattle, horses, sheep, swine, donkeys, mules, poultry, rabbits and pigeons.
All judging is conducted in the 42 acres of covered arenas and livestock barns at the Will Rogers Complex. In addition to livestock judging, a number of special exhibits are situated in the Cattle Barns to present previews of exotic cattle such as Gelbvieh, Romagnola, Blonde d'Aquitaine, White Park, Texas
Longhorn and Braford.

The Stock Show also offers a number of educational exhibits free to visitors. The Children's Barnyard, located between the Sheep and Swine Barns features mother farm animals with their young in a barnyard setting.
The exhibit also includes the hatching of chicken eggs, giving viewers an opportunity to see the process. Another equally favorite exhibit is the Milking Parlor between Cattle Barns 1 and 2, showing an open viewing area where the dairy cattle are milked each day using modern techniques.

Sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association, the annual Rodeo will feature action-packed events of bareback and saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and the Invitational Ranch Girls Barrel Race.

Almost 700 cowboy champions and challengers are entered in the events.
Neal Gay of Mesquite, Texas, will serve as rodeo production manager.
He will be joined by several other of the nation's most outstanding rodeo stock contractors to assure rodeo fans they will be seeing the best program available in the sport.

A record purse of $255,200 will be available for the 1987 Fort Worth Rodeo, scheduled in 23 action-packed performances during the 91st annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show Jan. 28 through Feb. 8 in Will Rogers Coliseum.
The line-up includes all the reigning world champions. Entered are Lewis Field of Elk Ridge, Utah, all around cowboy and saddle bronc champ; Bud Munroe of Valley Mills, Texas, bareback champ; Tuff Hedeman of Gainesville, Texas, bull riding champ;
Chris Lybbert of Argyle, Texas, calf

cent years has been the millions of dollars they are funneling into scholarships to promote education of our youths. We had a call recently from a reporter on a big daily paper and he was obviously from some benighted part of the country since his questions and his own admission was that he knew nuthin' about stock shows and livestock and agriculture and the folks involved in these enterprises.

One question he had was what is the difference, if any, in the people involved in livestock operations. That was one that was easy. Hardly a person in agriculture these days does change the way Papa did, and we can't offhand think of any survivors who operate like Granddad did.

Education is the difference. New techniques, new methods, new products, you name it. They are all changed and for the most part they are the things that enable them to hang in there and good times or bad, they manage to make it better for them and the public in general.

In addition to scholastics, these agricultural managers are acquiring new smarts as they attend and enjoy the Stock Shows. In addition to a pleasurable experience the shows provide a learning experience which assures you and me of food in these United States that costs less than anywhere in the world when you consider the percentage of income we pay for it.

Attend the shows. You are sure to learn something and have a heck of a good time in the process!

Ever think,

The Edditor.

P.S.: Uncle Dunk notes where the stories about the Iran-Contra matter are getting wilder and wilder, proving without a doubt, that a lot of folks in the news media are using their imaginations to cook up these reports. Dunk says it reminds him of those reporters who won Nobel and similar awards for stories they later admitted never happened. Add a grain of salt to your reading, looking and listening and rest assured what they are saying may or may not have a relationship with the hard facts - Thassell, Brothers!

registered Hereford business in 1928 when he purchased a heifer from a $100 gift from his aunt.

The Campbell name has long been associated with quality Herefords. His father, Seth, started ranching around the turn of the century, having grown up in the Hereford business, and after a stint as a Navy pilot in World War II, Campbell purchased the ranch at Dublin, "It's closest to Ft. Worth was one of the factors for buying the Dublin ranch. Dad took me to the Ft. Worth show as a kid, and from then on I wanted a ranch near Ft. Worth," Campbell says.

Lee Campbell, and wife Frances, will be special guests at several Hereford related functions during the Ft. Worth show.

In A Texas Town Brimming With Legends Of Cattle and Cattlemen...

You should expect nothing less at The Cowtown Classic than a "Superstar".

Thursday - January 29, 1987 - 10:00 A.M. - Barn 6 - S.W. Exposition Showgrounds
FORT WORTH, TEXAS

And a Superstar he is. This young embryo son of Ranger's Pride is out of our famous donor La Ventana. Superstar's genetic strength combined with his top of the line eye appeal make him a real standout. Performance for Superstar includes a 680 lb. Weaning Wt. and a 945 lb. Yearling Wt. Study his photograph and his dam's photograph. And you'll certainly agree Superstar is truly an individual with a herd sire future ahead of him. When you come to Cowtown, look for a "Superstar".

Superstar

La Ventana... The Dam

Photography by Ernie Gill

A super producer both as a donor and in natural production. La Ventana has been used extensively in our embryo program with unquestionable tremendous results. A daughter of Warrior III, La Ventana is out of a Gladiator daughter. Proven bloodlines that work! Fertility, production, marketability... La Ventana exceeds far beyond what is demanded in all categories. In 5 flushes to Ranger's Pride, Matador Warrior, and King Cotton she produced 47 pregnancies. On March 6, 1986 La Ventana had natural twin Levi calves.

White Park Cattle Exhibit At Show

White Park Cattle were first maintained in England in 55 B.C. The cattle that survived in each generation were superior. The basic qualities of hardiness, livability, disease resistance, fertility, and feed efficiency enabled a part of each generation to survive and reproduce themselves. These basic traits of functional efficiency became more inbred and more firmly established with each succeeding generation.

In 1940 one bull and five cows were sent to the United States as seedstock in the event of a Nazi invasion of England. In about 1960 all Park Cattle in the custody of the United States government were sold to the public. A group of breeders formed the White Park Cattle Association of America in 1976. It is this long period of natural development that has given Park Cattle their genetic, bred-in superiority of functional efficiency.

White Park Cattle, which are predominantly polled, can be easily recognized by their white color and

Contests to match their learned skills against the years of experience of professionals.

The show, founded in 1896 as a non-profit educational organization, is pleased to offer these youngsters an educational opportunity to show animals and participate in judging team competition.

Scheduled for this show will be a horse judging contest for 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America and Texas Junior Quarter Horse Association members, with the winning team representing Texas in world competition. There also will be a 4-H and PFA contest for plant identification.

At the college level will be a Southwest dairy cattle judging contest for senior agricultural college students, a general livestock judging contest for both junior and senior agricultural college students and the intercollegiate meat judging contest.

To help defray expenses of college teams coming here for the meat judging contest, E. M. and Billy Rosenthal of Standard Meat Company offered travel grants to colleges which have teams entered. The contest will be held at Columbia Meat Packing Company in Dallas.

The Stock Show has added $100,000 to a Texas Christian University endowment fund for students involved in the Future Training Program. The fund will offer scholarships to young men and women participating in the improvement program.

Other funds have been allocated to several other Texas institutions for higher learning.

Last fall, the Stock Show honored two outstanding Texas high school graduates with scholarships of $4,000 each. Joining six others already on study grants are Kevin Owen of Farwell 4-H Club, who is attending South Plains College at Levelland, and Perry Haley of Honda FFA Chapter who is a student of Texas A & M University.

Another group associated with the Stock Show youth program is the Downtown Stock Show Auction Syndicate, which raises funds to guarantee market prices for the youngsters who sell their prize-winning animals in the show's Sale of Champions.

In addition to supporting the sale, the

Brangus Convention To Praise Past, Challenge Future

Praying the Past and Challenging the Future is the theme that will highlight the 1987 Annual International Brangus Breeders Association (IBBA) Annual Convention and International Brangus Show on February 21-26, 1987 in Houston, TX. Convention activities are at the hotel head quarters, Marriott Hotel at the Astroline, and the prestigious International Brangus Show is on Thursday, February 26 during the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo in the Astrodome.

As the Brangus breed moves forward and explores new directions, the IBBA will reflect the breed's beginning and recognize the founders. The IBBA will honor the 14 men who met in July of 1949 to form the Brangus Association.

This year's convention will also offer a challenge to attendees as a group of knowledgeable panelists will discuss the breed's future and that of the beef cattle industry. Ralph Hood, humorist and motivational speaker, will inspire and encourage us to live a more productive life. The IBBA membership will hold their annual meeting and elect new leaders. The nine IBBA standing committees will each address the most important factors of the Brangus breed and give direction and insight to Brangus breeders.

Registration will begin on Monday evening, February 21 from 6:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m. and continue through the 25th, at 2:00 p.m. on Monday, Harris Farms, Columbus, TX will host a Brangus Production Sale at their ranch in Columbus.

IBBA committee meetings will get underway on Tuesday, February 24 at 8:00 a.m. and continue through Wednesday morning. Tuesday evening, Owl Creek Ranch and Plum Creek Ranch will unite to host a sale at 6:00 p.m. in the Marriott Hotel.

At 11:00 a.m. Wednesday the 25th, the IBBA membership will hold their annual meeting and election of officers. Beginning at 1:00 p.m., an industry panel will be staged with IBBA Executive Vice-President Jerry Morrow serving as moderator. Panel members include Dr. Dell Allen, Manhattan, KS; Shirley Meyer, Watford City, ND; Jerry Peterson, Potwin, KS; and Mick Colvin, West Salem, OH. Following the panel, Larry Benyschek, Associate Professor, University of Georgia, Athens will present a talk on utilizing the sire summary. Featured speaker, Ralph Hood, will be the final speaker on Wednesday afternoon.

Highlighting the convention activities will be the "Praying the Past" cocktail reception in which the founders of the breed will be recognized and the 1986 Brangus Breeder of the Year will be announced. The reception will be followed by the Miss International Brangus Sale sponsored by the Bluebonnet Brangus Breeders Association.

The best Brangus cattle in the country will be paraded before Judge Dr. Bob Kropp, Stillwater, OK at the International Brangus Show. The most prestigious show of its kind for Brangus will be held on Thursday morning at 8:30 a.m. at the Astrodome. Concluding the annual convention will be an open house meeting on Thursday afternoon the 26th at 3:00 p.m. All activities will be held at the Marriott at the Astroline unless indicated otherwise.

For additional details or a registration form, please contact Joy Weinheimer at the International Brangus Breeders Association, P.O. Box 698020, San Antonio, TX 78289-6020, 512/696-8231.

Commodity Insight

Week Ending January 8

Clayton Brokerage no longer exists. It was absorbed by a much larger company. It's hard for me to imagine such a thing. For years there have been rumors that it was for sale. But I assumed that those were just rumors and nothing more. Clayton had been around for so long, I just took it for granted that they would continue to operate.

In the 1940's, Roy W. Longstreet founded a firm called Longstreet-Abbott. This company was founded to offer fundamental analysis to commercial firms that were interested in price trends for raw agricultural commodities. Longstreet-Abbott was soon providing research for companies such as Pillsbury, Ralston-Purina, and other industry leaders.

Clayton Brokerage was founded by Longstreet because he wanted to offer the public the same high quality fundamental analysis that the large commercial firms were enjoying. Clayton Brokerage was nothing more than an offshoot of Longstreet-Abbott.

Clayton became a brokerage house for commercials, hedgers and the general trading public.

Clayton Brokerage was an industry leader for years and years. There was a time, not too long ago, when most commodity brokers and research analysts had roots leading back to the Clayton organization. Clayton Brokerage had a profound effect upon the futures industry well into the mid-1970's.

Roy W. Longstreet made his fortune trading the futures markets back in the 1960's. Those were the days when a buck was a buck. It was also the days when the only futures markets that were trading were grains, livestock and cotton. There were some tropical commodities being traded, such as sugar, cocoa, orange juice, and coffee. The metals that were traded were silver, copper and platinum. Gold futures were not traded in 1960's.

Longstreet had a significant influence upon the commodity markets in his day. He was held in awe. He was considered one of the big time speculators during the 1960's. It has been said that trading in the grain pits came to a halt the day he visited the floor of the Chicago Board of Trade. The floor traders had all heard about him and his exploits, but they never had a chance to see him.

As the company Longstreet-Abbott was phased out, Longstreet founded Clayton Commodity Service. The function of this firm was to provide research for Clayton Brokerage and to do brokerage business of its own.

In 1970, I was hired by Longstreet to work for Clayton Commodity Service. I had the opportunity to work very closely with the Chief. He was called the Chief out of respect and admiration. No one called him anything but the Chief.

I worked directly under the Chief while I was employed by Clayton Commodity Service. I gained a wealth of knowledge about market fundamentals, trading and psychology from him. It was invaluable.

The Chief had one of the best analytical commodity minds that I've ever run across. I realize that more now, than I did as a very green and uninformed 24 year old. The Chief could just look at those markets and all those dancing numbers and tell you where prices would be in the next few months.

He eventually decided to write a book about his experiences in the marketplace. After all, Longstreet-Abbott, Clayton Brokerage, and Clayton Commodity Service were all direct result of his efforts and dominant personality. That's worthy of a book.

His book is entitled "Viewpoints of a Commodity Trader." The book deals with self-motivation. The book is also concerned with harnessing one's emotions and maintaining a positive outlook on life. It is actually a book on self-improvement and human psychology.

In the early 1970's the Chief and many Clayton Commodity Service customers were bull spread in the orange juice market. The Chief was convinced that the nearby orange juice contracts would gain in price compared to the back months. He was right. Sizeable profits were soon built up on this trade.

Then, disaster struck. Over a weekend, President Nixon ordered a price freeze on all commodities. This was unprecedented action on the part of a President of the United States. A conservative President at that.

For several days, the nearby orange juice contracts went limit down and the back month contracts went limit up. It took us days to liquidate that mess. It was a nightmare.

I walked into the Chief's office after the fallout from the orange juice trade was over. I said, "Chief, I just can't believe we got hit so hard in that market. We had such huge profits. To lose it so quickly is just unbelievable. I don't know if I'm cut out for this business. Losing all that money was a killer."

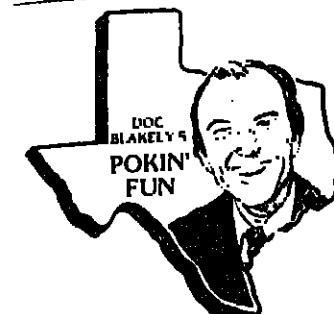

The Chief, then in his 70's, was seated behind his enormous wrap-around desk. He looked up and stared at me for a moment. After what seemed like an eternity he said, "The greatest loss is the loss of self confidence. Money comes and goes. He glanced downward again at the charts that he was studying. I turned and walked out of his office.

Longstreet-Abbott is gone, so is Clayton Commodity Service. But the Chief is still around. And I swear you he looks no older now than he did when I worked with him in the early 1970's. And he still trades commodities.

Wool Slow

Greeley, Jan. 8 - Limited shearing reported in farm flock areas of midwest with prices to farmers mostly 40-45 cents grease for mixed 48S to 68S blackface twelve months wool. Shearing beginning in Arizona although bulk of shearing not expected for another week or two.

The new tax law has so simplified things that it now takes three people to figure what you owe - you, your accountant, and the accountant's psychiatrist. The psychiatrist is just there for moral support, to say comforting things like, "There, there. Now, everything's going to be all right."

There is so much sobbing going on in accountants' offices that a new soap opera could spring up. "Days of Our Lives" may soon be replaced by "Dangled, If I Know."

It will feature a character everybody knows by the initials CPA, which stands for Constantly Perplexed American.

CPA could be either male or female but would have no time for romantic scenes in the series, just like in real life. Everything would revolve around the intense, deadly serious, life-threatening drama of breaking a code: the most cunning and clever code ever devised, the Tax Code.

The new simplified tax plan is the largest volume of works ever written in the history of the U.S. Experts tell us that it will be exceeded only by one publication - The New Simplified Tax Code revision.

The revision will be necessary to close the loopholes that you pay a CPA to find before the government lightens it into a noose.

I just had the new plan explained to me and I recommend it to anybody who has a bad case of the hiccups.

They'll soon be calling the plan the simplified Mayflower Tax because the whole country will have to come across.

The accountants, CPA's, and accountants are all giving us useless advice in my opinion. They're trying to tell us what to do with our money that we've already done something with.

It's like Mark Twain said, "The difference between a taxidermist and a taxman is that the taxidermist takes away your skin."

And crusty old Fred Allen remarked, "A tax plan is like a laundry list - either way, you're likely to lose your shirt."

Did you ever notice how these plans change? Basically they take the tax off things that have been taxed for many years and put the tax on things that have never been taxed before.

It's like trying to explain the old adage, "Two can live as cheap as one" to a couple who has just had twins.

Not that I'm complaining, you understand. These new plans often have some very pleasant surprises attached to them. A fellow told me he found that something he had been deducting from his taxes was actually going to become deductible. - Copyright 1986 Doc Blakely Pokin' Fun Newspaper Syndicate, Doc Blakely, 2404 Fairway Dr., Wharton, TX 77488, 409/632-4502.

Futures Talk

Week Ending Jan 9

In the December 12 article, we began a discussion on spreads. A "spread" is a trade made in the futures market where a futures contract is bought and another futures contract is sold at the same time. For example, a trader might buy June live cattle and at the same time sell August live cattle futures. The price of the spread is the difference between the price of June cattle and the price of August cattle. For example, if the price of June is $56.45 and the price of August cattle is $56.30, the spread price is 15 cents premium June cattle since June is $1.15 higher than the August price.

A spread where both sides or "legs" are the same commodity is called an "intra-market" spread. If each side is a different commodity, it is an "inter-market" spread. The June-August cattle spread is intra-market, and a cattle-hog spread would be inter-market. An intra-market spread is executed in one trading pit at the Exchange. To execute an inter-market spread, a broker might have to go to two pits.

The commission charged for a spread is higher than if only one contract is traded but it is less than the commission on two individual contracts. For example, the commission on cattle might be $70 a contract with a cattle-spread commission of $100 per spread.

The margin money required to trade a spread is generally considerably less than the margin required to trade one contract. The reason for this is that the trader in a spread buys and sells something at the same time. The trader is "long" a contract and "short" a contract at the same time. If the market rises, a profit is made on the long side while a loss is generated on the short side. Those offsetting positions tend to make a spread less volatile than a "net" or single position. For example, if a trader is short cattle and the market rises by 100 points ($1), the trader will lose $400, but a spread trader may not lose anything. The loss on their short side is offset by the profit on their long side. Of course, this safety factor does not always exist. It is possible for the position that is bought to go down and for the position that is sold to go up, which would make the loss worse than the net position loss.

Some spreads are fairly involved. For example, a rancher could buy feeder cattle futures, sell live cattle futures, and buy corn futures. In this case, the cost of the animals and feed are set as well as the selling price when the cattle are fed out.

If you are in phase with the flow of the price, the markets will pay you a handsome dividend.

The trend of March feeder cattle remains down but the flow has changed to neutral. The "flow" is a short term directional indicator. When a downtrending market tries to bottom out, the flow will turn neutral first, and then at a later time, the "trend" may be broken. Price can only do three things: move up, move down, or stay in a neutral position. Once in a neutral position, it will take more technical factors to move the flow into either the up or down mode. In accordance with last week's article, the resistance at $62.46 is being tested with the high on January 8 of $62.45 and the high of January 9 of $62.75. If the market closes above $62.75, the trend will change to up. If the trend is to continue down, the market should be topping out now.

The flow and trend of June live cattle (fats) remains down. In accordance with last week's article, the resistance

Oakway Farms Sets 'Spring Spectacular' Sale For March 28

Cameron, Texas — The 8th Annual Oakway Farms "Spring Spectacular" Red Brangus Sale will be held Saturday, March 28, 1987. Sale time is 10 a.m. at Oakway Farms, 6 miles north of Cameron, Texas off Hwy. 77.

Selling will be 50 Red Brangus heifers at 10:00 a.m., followed by 80 Red Brangus bulls at 1:00 p.m. Several sire prospects are included in the offering. These are performance tested bulls from progeny tested sires.

Every animal selling is from a certified brucellosis free herd.

Auctioneer will be Gerald Bowie. For information contact Oakway Farms, John or LaGayle Sosnowy, R. 1, Box 821C, Cameron, Texas 76821. 817/697-4651.

at $67.05 is being tested with the high on January 7 of $66.90, the high of January 8 of $67.15, and the high of January 9 of $67.25. If the market closes above $67.25, the trend will change to up. If the trend is to continue down, the market should be topping out now.

The flow of February hogs remains down with the trend up. The resistance is around $62.25. In accordance with last week's article, the support at $47.40 was knocked with the close of January 9 of $47.27. There is major support around $44.00.

The flow and trend of July corn remains down. There is a resistance around $1.85. In accordance with last week's article, the support at $1.81 was knocked out with the close of January 2 of $1.69. The support between $1.65 - $1.62 is being tested now. If the market closes below $1.62, the next support should be around $1.48.

The flow of May wheat remains down and the trend up. The resistance is around $2.65. In accordance with last week's article, the support at $2.55 has been knocked out with the close on January 6 of $2.55. The next support should be found around $2.47.

The trend of March soybeans remains sideways. The foundation of the sideways pattern are $6.11 and $4.93. A close below $4.93 will change the flow and the trend to down. A bottom occurred on December 18 at $4.86 in accordance with last week's article. $4.86 remains the bottom of this down move in the sideways pattern.

The flow and trend of June Treasury Bills remains down. The resistance is around $5.10. Treasury Bills futures are traded with numbers that are the reciprocal of interest rates. As T-Bills futures move lower, interest rates are becoming higher.

Dairy Cattle Kill Estimated 912,400

Washington, Jan. 7 (USDA) — The U.S. department of agriculture estimated 10,600 head of dairy cattle were slaughtered in federally inspected plants during the week ended 12-20-1986 as a result of the dairy termination program. The cumulative total of cattle slaughtered under the program from April 1 through December 20 was estimated at 912,400 head. This total included as dairy animals designated for disposition in compliance with the program requirements.

New Mesquite Herbicide From Dow Chemical Ready For '87 Spray Season

San Angelo, Tex. — A new herbicide that is at least twice as effective as any ever developed for control of mesquite is expected to be fully registered for use in 1987. Dow Chemical U.S.A. has announced at a press conference to livestock editors held in San Angelo.

The new herbicide, RECLAIM* will give ranchers their best tool ever for broad-spectrum treatment of mesquite, a woody, thorny brush that limits productivity on 106 million acres of rangeland in the Southwest, more than 20 million in Texas alone. The active ingredient is a chemical known as clopyralid.

Averaging root kill (total kill) of 65 percent in University and commercial testing, RECLAIM is effective when applied either alone or in mixture with GLAZON P.C., a herbicide widely used for mesquite and pricklypear control. The clopyralid product has earlier been identified as Dowex 290.

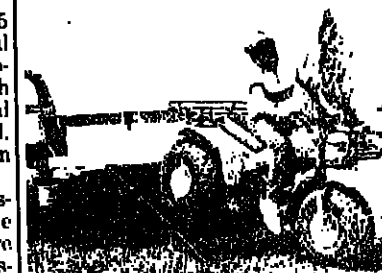

By any name, clopyralid has impressed researchers and ranchers who have participated in the testing. "If there ever was a herbicide specific for mesquite, this product is," says Dr. Pete Jacoby, professor in range science and brush management at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Vernon. "This is the one we've been waiting for."

In West Texas, Dow will recommend (CONT. ON PAGE 26)

"NO FRILLS"

THE COW/CALF OPERATOR HAS A NEW SET OF RULES...
IT'S CALLED...

That's right, it's a back-to-the-basics, no frills approach for the commercial cattle producer. This means taking land that is not profitable to farm or cannot be farmed and producing a feedlot-acceptable calf with a minimum of labor and management involvement.

Red Brangus were made for these new rules. The aggressive, ready-to-go Red Brangus bulls will cover lots of rough country with big numbers of cows in a cost-efficient and worry-free system. The mostly uniform red-colored Red Brangus-cross calves will have small birth weights, show rapid growth with heavy weaning weights and be capable of producing the yield grade 2 choice carcass.

If You Raise Coastal For Hay Or Grazing... YOU NEED The Revolutionary PORCUPINE®

PORCUPINE
Soil Aerator

Or Porcupine Jr.
Here's how it works...

The "PORCUPINE" SOIL AERATOR is designed to promote better Grass growth. Greater soil water holding ability, better penetration of Fertilizer into the soil and prevent hardpan.

Simply use this tool to Aerate your pastures all during the year, especially before fertilizing. The SOIL AERATOR punches thousands of slits 4 to 5 1/2" deep into the soil thus permitting the Fertilizer to get down to the roots and not wash or blow away on topsoil. The pointed spikes are welded in a pattern on the unit to permit more soil penetration and maximum ground "punching." This allows more water and moisture holding capacity for faster root growth. You can also attach twin Harrows behind the SOIL AERATOR to break up cow chips and spread them at the same time... all this without any damage to the field, any new sprouts or present growth. Wheels are mounted on the tongue of the unit for transportation of the AERATOR. Simply Jack it up and place the wheels under it for easy movement from pasture to pasture or ranch to ranch.

An 80 horsepower minimum tractor is recommended to pull the standard aerator. We also manufacture a smaller model of the Porcupine, which can be pulled with a 45 horsepower tractor. This model is 4 feet narrower in width, but has the same punching power as the standard Porcupine.

DAT-A-TAG

Dat-A-Tag, with premolded windows allowing the user to create his own letter/number combination in the field, has been developed by Norm Hayes, a Cody, Wyoming, plastics innovator and cattleman.

"Punch-out" Ear Tag On The Market This Fall

Cody, Wyoming — A new concept in cattle ear tags has been developed by Norm Hayes, a Cody, Wyoming, cattle breeder and entrepreneur who founded Y-Tex Long-Star tags nearly 25 years ago.

Called Dat-A-Tag, the patented design allows a cattleman to create his own identification when he needs it, eliminating the usual wait for pre-numbered tags and the waste of unused numbers at year-end, according to Hayes.

"Each tag has premolded knockout windows for a digital stamped letter/number combination. The user simply punches out the appropriate windows to create whatever combination he wants. With one alpha and three number windows, he can create up to 26,974 combinations — and never waste a tag," Hayes said.

"A second unique feature is a slot

Profitable Heifer Feeding Topic Of Management Brochure

Kalamazoo, Michigan — Cattlemen know the economic advantage to feeding heifers is to turn lower purchase prices into a plus by feeding the cattle as efficiently as possible, says James R. Piotrowski, D.V.M., technical services veterinarian for The Upjohn Company.

in a heifer feeding brochure recently published by Upjohn.

"Heifers can present problems for the cattle feeder if they are not managed properly," the veterinarian states. "Feeding heifers cause reduced performance and increased injuries due to rolling and pen disturbances. Pregnant heifers are a liability, due to their docking at slaughter and reduced yields, and as a result, feeders have found paying to be an alternative."

"However, university and commercial feedlot trials show that spayed heifers perform less efficiently (seven percent lower rate of gain than intact, open heifers in the feedlot)," he explains. Trial data comparing the performance of intact heifers fed MGA with spayed heifers using ovarian tissue implants is included in this brochure.

Feedlot heifer management, including feeding of MGA (meglgestrol acetate) to keep heifers from heat cycling, is also discussed by a university extension veterinarian and a feedlot manager. (CONT. ON PAGE 26)

"NEW STUFF" (continued)

applying RECLAIM alone at 1/2 lb. per acre, or in a tank mix that includes 1/2 lb. of RECLAIM and 1/2 lb. of Grazon PC per acre. The tank mix will be recommended in all cases where pricklypear is a target along with mesquite, says Tom Fields, Dallas, marketing manager for Dow.

Picloram (Grazon PC) kills pricklypear but RECLAIM shows little activity against pear, he explained. Even when pricklypear is not a problem, the tank mix of clopyralid with equal amounts of picloram (1/2 + 1/2) has proven to be equivalent to a total of 1/2 lb. of clopyralid alone.

The trucking cost of applying a mixture of 1/2 lb. of RECLAIM and 1/2 lb. of Grazon PC is estimated to be between $22 and $23/acre in West Texas. The cost of applying 1/2 lb. of RECLAIM alone is forecast at between $25 and $26/acre.

In South Texas, where ranchers deal with mixed brush that includes many species other than mesquite, the recommendation will be double the West Texas rate or 1 lb. of RECLAIM plus 1 lb. of Grazon PC.

Control as high as 95 percent has been recorded with application of RECLAIM on mesquite. However, in more than 75 trials, the average kill was 65 percent for both the RECLAIM + Grazon PC tank mix and for the 1/2 lb. rate of RECLAIM alone. Control at that level should result in improved grazing for as long as 10 years, compared with five to seven years for the best alternatives currently available, says Dr. J. B. Grunwald, Dallas, a range scientist and herbicide specialist for Dow.

James Vance, who manages the Chapel Spade and Cuervo Spade ranches for Spade Ranches, noticed a different mode of action when he applied RECLAIM to 60 acres of mesquite northwest of Tucuman, N.M., in 1985 under an Experimental Use Permit. "You could see the effect of the spray much sooner," Vance says. "It did not defoliate. Leaves turned brown and just continued to hang on the plants. In other treatments, you could spray and knock the leaves off but not get good control." Where RECLAIM was applied, "there was an 80 percent kill, maybe a little more," Vance reports.

Timing of application of RECLAIM appears to be less critical than is timing for application of other mesquite herbicides. Treatments in the fall have been effective. Additional tests are being applied this (1986) fall.

Clopyralid has been tested alone and in combination with picloram for more than 10 years. "With Dowco 290 (now

E-Z Load Pickup Ramp

The Blu River Division of Reinke Manufacturing Company promised to add to the overall load-carrying ability of both standard size and compact pickup trucks.

E-Z Load Ramps, available in either 42- or 48-inch widths, fold and store on the inside of the tailgate of the vehicle while keeping the loadbed area of the truck free and clear, according to Mr. Jim Herder, Blu River products manager for Reinke. Maximum load capacity for the ramp is 750 pounds.

"The E-Z Load Ramp is surprisingly lightweight considering the load capacity of the unit," Herder states. "Made of high strength steel, the ramp is capable of loading lawn tractors, all-terrain vehicles, golf carts, etc., as well as improving the overall utility of any standard size or compact pickup truck."

For more information regarding the Blu River E-Z Load Ramps, contact Mr. Jim Herder, Reinke Manufacturing Company, Blu River Division, P.O. Box 568, Deshler, Nebraska 68340.

for a replaceable insecticide insert. The chemical-impregnated tag hangs right against the ear, where it does the most good. The insecticide tag can be applied, removed or replaced without cutting another hole in the ear. And it's less expensive than buying special ear tags for insect control," Hayes said.

Available in five bright colors, Dat-A-Tag is made of new, other-based polyurethane which is more durable and stays flexible in sub-zero temperatures.

Dat-A-Tag is inserted through thick cartilage at the top of the ear so is less subject to snagging and auguring. It hangs in front of the ear, riding over the long ear hair for maximum visibility.

"We've developed a heavy-duty applicator to punch through the heavy cartilage easily. The applicator releases automatically, letting the operator get away quickly," Hayes noted.

Hayes has been both a rancher and John Cargile, San Angelo Rancher and livestock commission operator, has employed about every method known in his 14-year program to manage brush. Brush management is essential to preserve productivity of rangeland, he believes, but he's concerned about rising costs. He stands beside a mesquite tree killed with application of herbicides. On a test plot on his ranch, an application of 1/2 lb. per acre the new herbicide RECLAIM mixed with 1/2 lb. of Grazon PC (picloram) was judged to have killed 60 percent of the mesquite in a September 1986, evaluation.

an inventor for several decades. An early convert to performance testing, he is currently a trustee and member of the executive committee of American Simmental Association. Simultaneously, he has worked in the molded plastics industry, with Y-Tee Lone Star ear tags being his best known endeavor. Hayes said he expects to have nationwide distribution by this fall.

and convenience and economy, says Phillips.

Features include a mill with 66 cutting hammers for a more uniform grind; continuous recirculation action for thorough blending; hydraulic operation for smooth feeding; fingertip control and fast unloading.

A big advantage of hydraulically-operated feedmaking with a Mix-All is reduced maintenance, Phillips notes. Gehl engineers have eliminated many parts that normally cause problems, such as the drive belts, chains and gear clusters on the feeding attachments and loading mechanisms.

Model 125 has a capacity of 100 bushels, and model 170 has a capacity of 135 bushels.

For additional information on these Mix-Alls, contact Richard Burdick, Gehl Company, West Bend, WI 53090, (414) 334-9461.

The Hall of Merit Award will be presented to four beef industry leaders for dedication to their respective fields. They are Dr. C. J. Brown, Fayetteville, Ark., for education and research; the late Jim Flanagan, Kissimmee, Fla., communications; Dr. Louis Wise, Mississippi State, Miss., public affairs; and Robert Volk, Omaha, Neb., youth activities.

Teeter's Will-Via Polled Hereford Farm started using Polled Herefords in its commercial herd in 1946, and entered the purebred business soon after. Teeter was a believer in basics, and began keeping performance records on his herd some 25 years ago.

The man who introduced Victor Domino cattle to the western U.S. is the other Hall of Fame inductee. Jack Oleson brought the linebred cattle to his Colorado ranch where they fit well into his program that stressed maternal ability and growth.

Hall of Merit honoree Dr. C. J. Brown joined the faculty of the University of Arkansas in 1954. He has a wide range of accomplishments, working primarily with beef cattle. He initiated one of the early beef bull sales in the U.S. in which performance records were made available on bulls, and pioneered the use of linear measurements as objective measures of size and shape in beef cattle.

Sale time is 1:00 p.m. The sale is held in conjunction with the American Gelbvieh Association National Convention and the 2nd National Gelbray Show at the LSU Livestock Show.

Consignments for the sale are open to any member of the American Gelbvieh Association, the American Gelbray Association or the American Brahman Association. Nominations are due by November 15, 1986. Cattle for the sale must be halibred and of high quality. Sale manager for the sale is World Sales, John & Vivian Joyce from Wharton, Texas. John Joyce, owner of World Sales, states "we will only accept the very finest Gelbvieh, Gelbray and Brahman animals for the Extravaganza. All of the cattle in the sale will be screened and will be guaranteed breeders by the consignors."

Rousseau with the Louisiana Gelbvieh/Gelbray Association (AC 504/275-8179), Garry Marceaux with the Louisiana Brahman Association (AC 318/843-2321) or John Joyce at World Sales (AC 713/342-2035 or AC 409/657-2212).

Gelbvieh Ass'n Hits Record

Denver — The American Gelbvieh Ass'n has set an all-time record for registrations during the 1986 calendar year. The association processed 16,142 applications during the year to continue its steady growth pattern. The previous record was 16,110 head recorded in 1985.

Kansas Gelbvieh registrations, followed by Nebraska, South Dakota and California.

Another milestone was set in 1986 for inquiries. AGA received 2,394 inquiries requesting information about Gelbvieh cattle. This volume was also the largest calendar year total in the history of the association.

National AGA President Dotti Knost, Clinton, La., remarked, "We are ecstatic about the growth of our registrations, but these inquiries are just as important. Cattle producers are looking hard at what breeds work and are looking at Gelbvieh. The next few years will be even more profitable for our members as Gelbvieh numbers continue to expand within the U.S."

Gelbvieh cattle originated in the Bavaria region of West Germany. AGA was founded in July 1971, before any Gelbvieh were born or imported here.

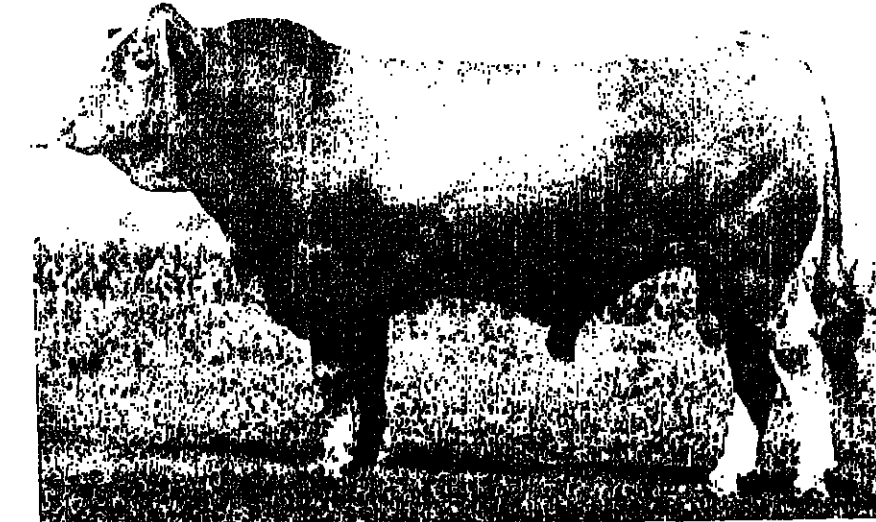

The association has enjoyed a steady growth since that time. It lists over 1,300 active members throughout the United States. For more information on Gelbvieh cattle, contact AGA, 5001 National Western Drive, Denver, CO 80216.

The Commercial Cowman's
"ONE SOURCE" Breed for Profitable
Feeder Calves . . . And Top Replacement Females.

- Profitable Feeder Calves.
Gelbvieh feeder cattle excel in performance, feed efficiency and in total profitability.
- Productive Replacement Females
Females cycle earlier, calve easily, rebreed quickly and bring home heavier calves at weaning.
- Fertile, Aggressive Gelbvieh Bulls
Research proves a direct correlation between scrotal measurement and fertility in females. Gelbvieh bulls, like this one, can boost your profits through performance and productivity in your crossbreeding program.

Feeder Cattle Sharply Higher

St. Joseph, Jan. 9 (USDA) — National feeder cattle and calf summary week ended Jan. 9, 1987 receipts this week 217,700; last week 21,000; year ago 205,600. According to the USDA livestock market news service, feeder steers and heifers sold 1.00-3.00 higher, instances 4.00-5.00 higher than three weeks ago when most markets had sufficient numbers to establish price levels. Optimism displayed by feeder buyers far outweighed any support derived from a modest price gain on slaughter steers and heifers this week. Numbers showed a considerable jump upward in the Texas panhandle, western Oklahoma, and New Mexico area where this week's movement was the largest ever recorded since USDA began reporting these sales.
